9:00 – 10:00 “ Innovative Chapter Strategies”

Speaker: Steve Weiss, Vice President Membership and Global Business Development, Institute of Management Accountants

As vice president of membership and global business development at the Institute of Management Accountants (IMA®), Steven A. Weiss brings a background of nearly 20 years of experience in business development, project management, and revenue maximization.

Mr. Weiss joined the staff of IMA in 2006 as director of corporate development, where he designed the Corporate Development department infrastructure to create IMA benefit packages for Fortune 1,000 corporations, government entities, and not-for-profit organizations. These benefits include continuing education and certification solutions to meet organizations’ human capital challenges. His current position expanded from his original role to include the oversight of IMA’s member benefits portfolio and global business development activities.

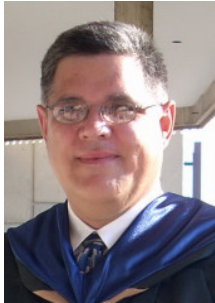

Mr. Weiss’ diverse background working for performance-driven, customer-driven, and market-driven organizations began with a successful career coaching student athletes from several collegiate football programs. This path helped hone a skill set that includes organizational skills, leadership, and an ability to drive results.
